THIS BOOK IS NOT TOO BAD, BUT A LITTLE BORING.....

By A Customer

MY COMMENTS TO THE WRITER IS TO MAKE THE STORY MORE EXCITING [SORRY IF I OFFEND THE AUTHOR, BUT I'M SURE THE AUTHOR WANTS THE TRUTH ABOUT THE BOOK.] . IT'S A LITTLE LONG WINDED BUT CAN BE THE BEST MYSTERY I HAVE EVER READ.

A good story for girls who love horses

By Christine Meads

I didn't know this series existed but as a child I read the Mystery of Horseshoe Canyon and found the series.

This story starts with Linda and her brother living with their grandparents at the Rancho Del Sol. She wants a horse that she can train. The mystery is that a friend sees strange lights at the edge of the ranch and tells Linda's grandfather. Stopping in at an Indian friend's cabin, Linda spies a young palomino that she names Chica D'Oro (Golden Girl). The horse becomes hers. Her grandfather, brother, and the Indian friend help her figure out the mystery of the lights and the disappearance of a lot of horses, Chica being one of them.

The series reminds me of Nancy Drew and the Hardy Boys. It's a good mystery but the story is a bit drawn out with a lot of descriptions and filler story (this is why it reminds me of the Hardy Boys). Any young girl who loves horses (and maybe young boys as well) will love this story and the series.

Wonderful memories of these books from my childhood

By Jamie Mullendore

I was looking these up for my daughter's 10th birthday, and I am so glad I found them. I was/am a horse crazy girl, and my Mom got these for me when I was a child. I LOVED these books and cannot wait to reread them all when Trinity is done with them. :)
